Butch Carr &
Jim Odom

Just outside of Lufkin there's a place Jim and Sally Odom call home. It's a place where a man can build an airplane, do the taxi testing and first takeoff, all without leaving home.

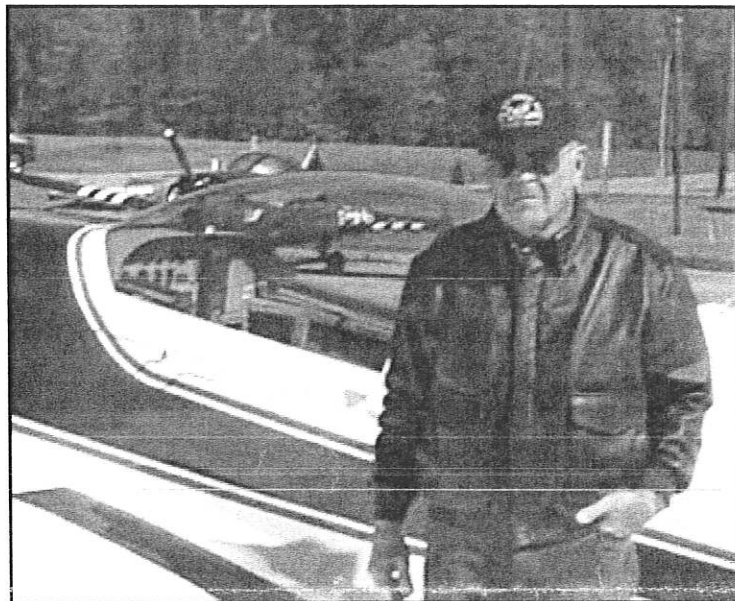

Jim completed his RV-6 (N112M) in 1999 with the first flight November 4th. That first flight was from his turf strip to the airport at Lufkin. He is really enjoying the RV's performance. But what events brought him to this point?

Jim was in the U.S.A.F. from January 1951 till May 1959. In pilot class 53C he flew the T-6, T-28, T-33, and then the F-86D and F-86L. Then after the Air Force, he worked as a pilot for South Land Paper from 1961-1993 flying the E18 Twin Beech and E90 King Air. He now has over 12,000 hours. Jim says, "Flying was my job, now it's just fun every day." (Being retired helps make every day fun.)

Previous occupations include helicopter mechanic, insmith, and tree farmer. Other interests are hunting, building homes, maintaining a sod airport near home where the RV-6 is hangared.

Jim wrote, "I have a 3,000' turf strip (25TX) on the LFK 016 radial 10 NM and you are welcome to fly in any time. Call ahead if you like (936) 824-2410."

Airport bum. What comes to mind when someone says airport bum? Well, you'd have to stretch your imagination a bit beyond that to match Butch Carr's experience. Butch grew up with aviation. His Dad was both an aviation mechanic and pilot. Butch worked at the airport since age 11, soloed at 16 in a J-3 Cub, earned his private at 17, and his commercial at 18 1/2 while helping his Dad run the FBO from 1958 - 1967. During that time he also served 7 years in the National Guard (PVT E-1 to First Lieutenant) 1961 - 1968 as an artillery forward observer.

In 1967 Butch went to work for Frontier Airlines and flew with them till 1986 when he went to Continental Airlines, staying with Continental until retirement in 1999. He now has over 31,000 hours in 106 different types of aircraft. (More types than I have hours!) Butch, having a love of aerobatic flight, also found time to be an aviation dealer for Pitts. Airports, airplanes, and piloting... this is his resume.

Airplanes owned include a Mooney M20E, Pitts Specials, Varga, Several Pipers, Ryan PT-22, and now a RV-8 that is, "75% done, 75% to go." At least, being retired, he can almost live at the hangar full time, building the RV-8. (And he does.) Other interests include motorcycling and writing aviation poetry.

Butch writes, "EAA is possibly the only organization capable of keeping the dream of flying alive for the common Person." And as our friend and resident airport bum, he should know!

TWA 1049 "Super G" Lockheed Constellation

This photo was taken last month at Houston Hobby Airport. The Super G Lockheed Constellation has four Wright 998TC (3,400 HP) engines, a max gross TOW of 156,000-160,000 pounds, and a range of 4,000 miles. It seats 64-88 in luxury as it cruised at 342 KTS.

Introduced by TWA in June 1952, Lockheed called it the Super Star.

TWA called it the "Jet Stream Starliner" as TWA had discovered the jet stream a few years earlier in the Northrup Alpha flown by Jack Frey and Tommy Tomlinsen.

This is one TWA airplane that will never be painted in American Airlines colors!
